

Colorado: DBP Connections

Barriers to participation in our telehealth program to support primary care providers were assessed through a brief online survey and informal group interviews at 3 different geographical sites within Colorado.

1. Online Survey: A two-question online survey was sent to providers on the listserv. These individuals received emails with information and links to connect to the telehealth conferences. They also had participated in our sessions, reached out to a member on team and/or expressed interest in DBP Connections.
 - “What are the barriers to participating in DBP Connections? (select all that apply):
 - a. cannot attend during the lunch hour
 - b. cannot attend on Thursdays
 - c. topics not of interest
 - d. do not like the current format of the talks
 - e. do not have a question to ask or patient to present
 - f. computer/technology issues
 - g. presenter/speaker issues
 - h. other (please specify)
 - “What would help you participate more often?”
2. Informal group interviews: Providers were recruited for these interviews by a parent advocate. The interviews occurred in the offices of the PCPs. They were preceded with a brief presentation reviewing the background and format of DBP Connections which concludes with a slide with the following questions to generate discussion:
 - Is this helpful for you?
 - Thoughts about format (didactics and case discussions)?
 - What are barriers to participating?
 - What would help you participate/what changes would you recommend? Time and/or day of week change?
 - Topics needed?
 - Prefer case discussion, didactics or both?
 - Incentives (CME)?
 - How can we better support you in managing patients with developmental and/or behavior concerns?
